DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 57-70, 83-89, 109-122, 124-130 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tagawa et al(6,834,348).

3. As per claims 57, 83, 109, 124, Tagawa et al. discloses a method of transferring authorization to render protected electronic content from a first device(i.e. primary recording medium) to a second device(i.e. secondary recording medium)(see fig. 1, sheet 1, and see associated descriptions(see col. 6, lines 3-10, 17-28), having a device cryptographic key(see), receiving a transfer authorization request having an indicator of the first device(see col. 15, lines 39-60), and indicator of the second device, and an indicator of the protected electronic content (see col. 9, lines 43-63); updating a first device history table to indicate that the first device is not authorized to render the protected electronic content and updating a second device history table to indicate the second device is authorized to render the protected electronic content based on the received transfer authorization request(see col. 18, lines 53-67, col. 19, lines 1-18); and communicating a transfer authorization response having an indicator of the second device, an indicator of the protected electronic content, and a content cryptographic key for the protected electronic content protect using the device cryptographic key of the second device so that only the second device may gain access to the content cryptographic key by use of the device cryptographic key of the second device(see col. 9, lines 38-63, col. 19, lines 50-61).

4. As per claims 58, 110, 125, Tagawa discloses wherein the device cryptographic key of the second device is a symmetric key(see col. 23, lines 53-65).

5. As per claims 59, 111, Tagawa discloses wherein the device cryptographic key of the second device is a DES key(see col. 10, lines 36-46).

6. As per claims 60, 112, 126, Tagawa discloses wherein the device cryptographic key of the second device is a public key having a corresponding private key stored with the second device, and protecting the content cryptographic key using the device cryptographic key of the second device includes protecting the content cryptographic key with the public key such that the second device may use the corresponding private key to gain access to the content cryptographic key(col. 9, lines 38-63, col. 19, lines 50-61).

7. As per claims 61, 113, Tagawa discloses wherein the public key is an RSA public key and the private key is an RSA private key(see col. 19, lines 50-61).

8. As per claims 62, 114, 127, Tagawa discloses wherein the content cryptographic key is a symmetric key, which is used to encrypt the protected electronic content such that only the symmetric key can be used to decrypt the content(see col. 9, lines 38-63, col. 19, lines 50-61).

9. As per claims 63, 115, 128, Tagawa discloses receiving payment authorization information associated with the transfer authorization request, and charging a service fee based on the payment authorization information (see col. 6, lines 16-31).

Art Unit: 2131

10. As per claims 64, 116, Tagawa discloses wherein updating the first device history table includes removing a stored indicator of the protected electronic content from the first device history table(see col. 18, lines 53-67, col. 19, lines 1-18).

11. As per claims 65, 117, Tagawa discloses wherein the updating the first device history table includes adding indicia that the protected electronic content is no longer authorized for the first device(see col. 29, lines 40-67, col. 30, lines 1-6).

12. As per claims 66, 118, Tagawa discloses wherein the protected electronic content is audio content(see col. 6, lines 40-53).

13. As per claims 67, 119, Tagawa discloses wherein the protected electronic content is video content(see col. 5, lines 63-67, col. 6, lines 1-2).

14. As per claims 68, 120, Tagawa discloses wherein the protected electronic content is electronic written content(see col. 13, lines 47-52).

15. As per claims 69, 121, 129, Tagawa discloses wherein the indicator of the first device in the transfer authorization request is a unique serial number(see col. 9, lines 43-63, see col. 15, lines 39-60).

16. As per claims 70, 122, 130, Tagawa discloses verifying that the first device is authorized to render the protected electronic content(see col. 6, lines 3-31).

17. Claims 101, 103, 123, and 131, are objected to as being rejected on base claims. Response to Amendment

18. The Applicant states that the priority date of August 5, 1998 is not the priority date of the reference(6,550,011). Patent 6,550,0111 Sims et al, is a continuation in part to 6,438,235 witch has the filing date of August 5, 1998. The Applicant's arguments are persuasive. The Examiner has not relied up 6,550,011 to reject the pending claims above. The Examiner has applied new art. Thus remarks made on Sims 6,550,011 are moot.
